

How to Open a US Bank Account by using a Private Bahamas Unit Trust

Opening a US bank account has become very difficult since September 11, 2001. Banks are going to ask you for your Social Security Number, your US address, and you will need to be physically present at the bank. But there are other ways that avoid these requirements – we can show you how!

You know you need a US bank account if you:

- Use Ebay to buy or sell.
- Use PayPal, Google Checkout, 2Checkout, Stormpay, or any other payment service to receive funds.
- Do business with US clients.
- Do business on the Internet.
- Need to buy using a US based credit card (some US companies refuse to sell to buyers with foreign cards).

Without a US bank account receiving US checks can cost a lot of money to clear through your local bank, and you will lose a lot of time while your local bank processes the check (sometimes weeks or even months). Furthermore, you are more prone to suffer check fraud because of the delay in processing – with a US bank account you find out if a personal check was good within a few days in most circumstances. Clearly, a US bank account would help.

You may be able to open a bank account through a foreign branch of a US bank in your home country, but you are going to find that this is a very complicated and expensive process, and the account itself is going to have higher minimum deposits, less privacy, and impose many more restrictions than a normal US bank account.

We have the best solution for you!

We advise the use of a Private Bahamas Unit Trust established by a licensed professional to open a US bank account for you. Why should you use a Private Bahamas Unit Trust to help you establish a US bank account? First of all, the trust laws in the Bahamas are among the very best in the world, and have only become better over time. Bahamas is a pro-business, pro-privacy, zero/low tax jurisdiction. Your interest in the Trust does not need to be disclosed to any registry in the Bahamas or elsewhere, the income earned on the Trust will be tax free in the Bahamas, and Bahamas law provides excellent asset protection for the beneficiary of a Bahamas Trust. But the Bahamas is NOT a blacklisted jurisdiction, otherwise we would not be able to use it to establish a US bank account. The Bahamas is a highly regarded and respected business center that complies with all international standards. And best of all, as long as you are not a resident or citizen of the USA, and you are not “doing business” in the USA (this usually means making, providing, storing and/or transporting goods or services inside the USA), there will be no tax liability in the USA either.
